

IMPLANT DENTISTRY TODAY

Implant Dentistry Today is now in its seventh year, filling a valuable niche in the Australian dental implant market.

Our publication has been enthusiastically received by dentists and the industry.

Implant Dentistry Today is a product of an association between Australasian Dentist with leading international dental publisher, FMC, and is distributed in Australia and New Zealand.

Implant Dentistry Today is a distinguished and prestigious syndicated publication with an extensive readership across the globe.

It is a high calibre journal for the general practitioner offering practical clinical, education and business advice to all dentists practicing and seeking to practice implant surgery.

In Australia the title has continued these high standards and has found a wide readership keenly interested in implant dentistry.

Patients are aware of and responsive to dental implants and for the general dentist it is the largest revenue-building procedure in dentistry today.

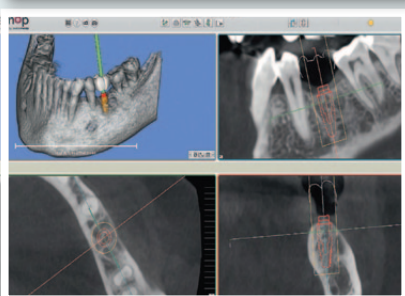

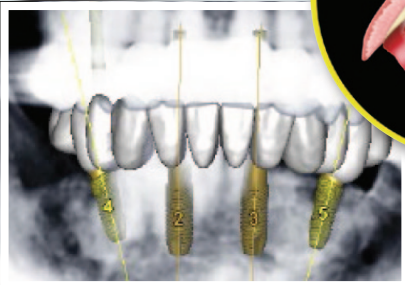

A dedicated section of Australian dentists constantly seek information on the latest trends in implant surgery and need to update their knowledge in this field.

And an ever increasing number of dentists are looking to get a start in implant dentistry. Implant Dentistry Today provides this vital dialogue.

Implant Dentistry Today is published twice a year, in March and October.

The publication features quality clinical articles in every issue. The content of the magazine is reviewed by members of the FMC Editorial Board to ensure the quality of its clinical articles are as high possible.

To take a wider role in this exciting and growing specialised area, become involved in Implant Dentistry Today and get your message direct to today's implant dentist.
